

ROBERT G. HARRIS JR.

LaGrange

Robert (Bob) G. Harris Jr., a member of Georgia's Callaway family built and sold several companies. He is currently retired and spends time between Carrollton and LaGrange. The Harris and Callaway families were lead patrons of the Art of Diplomacy: Winston Churchill and the Pursuit of Painting. They assisted with research in the United States and traveled to the United Kingdom for further research. Their plantation Hills & Dales was the opening venue as reported in the Wall Street Journal for the Churchill exhibition. Bob will be helpful to the foundation and the museum due to his sophistication in the finance industry as well as fundraising.